Mike Lucas from Environmental Risk Services will host this very informative seminar that will cover federal Department of Transportation (DOT) HazMat training.

DOT HAZMAT TRAINING

HAZMAT training is required by the DOT for any employee responsible for shipping hazardous materials. The Federal hazardous materials (HAZMAT) law was developed to protect against the risks to life, property, and the environment which are inherent in the transportation of hazardous materials. The Department of Transportation (DOT) HAZMAT Regulations (HMR; 49 CFR Parts 171-180) govern the packaging and safe transportation of hazardous materials by air, highway, rail, and by water.

Employers are also required to maintain documentation relative to the training and provide refresher training every three years. In most instances, automobile dealerships ship and receive hazardous materials making them subject to the regulations. Many vehicle manufacturers also require that dealers provide training documentation.

NJ CAR, in conjunction with Environmental Risk Services, has prepared a HAZMAT training program that includes topics considering general awareness and familiarization, function specific criteria, security, and safety. This training course will satisfy initial and three-year refresher DOT training requirements for a HAZMAT employer.
